Thus, please speak with your manager about responsibilities and obligations during the remote work period and whether your work is conducive to a remote working policy. In case of specific roles where continued WFH is not possible, the employee will be transitioned to some other suitable team or department accordingly.

The female employee can avail this benefit of WFH post 26 weeks of maternity as per own flexibility or choice of tenure.

Designated Workspace

It is expected that the employee will designate a proper workspace at home, so that the Office work gets done with sincerity and dedication. Also, there might be some important "Video ON" calls remotely, for which the setup has to be planned in advance.

If, while working from a designated workspace, the employee experiences technical issues with his or her computer or internet access that prevent the employee from working remotely, the employee must notify his or her manager immediately. Interruptions to work caused by consistent internet outages may require the employee to work from their regular office space until the outage is fixed.

Employees working from home may be required to come to their usual work office location/Client Location couple of times every quarter as required by the needs of the business and as mutually discussed with the manager.

Remote Meetings

Employees working from a designated workspace/remotely will be expected to attend all essential meetings via video conference or by phone.

Rules and Policies

All of AGL's rules and policies, including those set forth in the company's Employee Handbook, apply while WFH. These policies include, but are not limited to, policies regarding attendance, confidentiality, and policies prohibiting harassment. Employees are reminded that this Work from Home Policy is not to be used in place of sick leave, etc. Company is not responsible for any expenses related to remote work during this period.

Employees doing WFH must understand that their computers and the internet will be monitored by AGL through third party tools during their work time.

Official Work Time

Employees must follow their regular assigned work schedule, unless otherwise discussed with and approved by the employee's manager. All arrangements for childcare, elder care, repair persons, etc. must be arranged so as not to interfere with the employee's regular work schedule. If there are exception days, it is advised to give a sufficient prior intimation to Team/Manager/Client so that things can be planned.

Remuneration

The WFH benefit will not impact the existing CTC structure. However, the manager needs to validate every month before payroll through a proper timesheet approval mechanism regarding completion of work responsibilities while WFH.

Appraisals

Extended WFH, out of family compulsion is an aberration. Hence the annual appraisals for such cases cant be at par with people who are regularly coming to Office in-Person.

Confidentiality and Security

Employees working remotely are reminded that even if they are working from home, they are bound by any confidentiality and/or security agreements they signed in connection with their employment with AGL, and any confidentiality and/or security policies contained in the company's

Employee Handbook. Thus, consistent with company's expectations of information security for employees working in the office, remote employees will be expected to ensure the protection of proprietary company and customer information accessible from their home office.
